Task 1: Writing an Email

Time: 27 minutes · Length: 150–200 words

Online Dinosaur Gallery Tour Feedback

Last weekend, you and your 10-year-old son took the free online tour of the dinosaur gallery at a natural history museum in Calgary. You both enjoyed parts of it, but you also had some problems while using the tour on your tablet. The museum has asked visitors to send feedback by email.

Write an email to the museum's visitor services team in about 150-200 words. Your email should do the following things:

Tell them what you enjoyed about the online tour.

Describe the problems you had with the tour.

Suggest ways the museum could improve the tour.

Your answer: _____ words

Task 2: Responding to Survey Questions

Time: 26 minutes · Length: 150–200 words

Hybrid Work vs. Full-Time Office Work

Your company, a mid-sized firm, is rethinking work setups after noticing employees have different needs —some want flexibility, others like the office routine. They've sent a survey asking for your input on new arrangements, valuing your opinion to shape a policy that keeps everyone productive and satisfied. This is your chance to say what works best for your daily life!

Which option do you prefer? Why?

- Option A: Adopt a hybrid work model (some days in the office, some remote).
- Option B: Require employees to work in the office full-time.

Your answer: _____ words

Task 1: Online Dinosaur Gallery Tour Feedback

Excellent sample answer (written at around CLB 11–12, an estimate, not an official score)

Dear Visitor Services Team,

Last Saturday, my 10-year-old son and I explored your online tour of the dinosaur gallery, and I would like to share some feedback.

Overall, it was a wonderful experience. The 360-degree views let us examine each skeleton from every angle, and the short clip in which a palaeontologist explains how T. rex constantly replaced its teeth completely captured my son's imagination. He has since asked to visit the gallery in person.

That said, we ran into some technical difficulties. On my tablet, the tour froze several times and sent us back to the entrance hall, and the narration lagged a few seconds behind the video. We also found that the exhibit labels could not be enlarged, so much of the written information was unreadable.

I would suggest optimizing the tour for tablets and adding a zoom feature for labels. For young visitors, a short interactive quiz at the end would be a great addition, and occasional live sessions with a guide would make the tour even more engaging.

Thank you for offering this free resource.

Kind regards,

Priya Raman

Task 2: Hybrid Work vs. Full-Time Office Work

Excellent sample answer (written at around CLB 11–12, an estimate, not an official score)

I advocate for Option A, as a hybrid work model aligns seamlessly with the diverse needs of our workforce while enhancing productivity. Remote work, even part-time, eliminates the daily commute—a drain on time and energy for many. Personally, I find that starting my day without travel sharpens my focus, a benefit echoed by colleagues who've trialed remote setups.

Yet, the office retains its value. Periodic in-person days foster collaboration that virtual tools can't fully replicate. Take brainstorming sessions, for example: the spontaneity of face-to-face discussion often sparks ideas that fuel innovation. This balance keeps our team connected and cohesive.

Full-time office mandates, by contrast, overlook the stress of constant travel and rigid schedules, risking burnout. A hybrid approach, blending flexibility with structure, not only supports my daily life but also positions the company to thrive. It's a practical, forward-thinking solution I wholeheartedly endorse.
