Task 1: Complaint About Inconsistent Mail Delivery

Excellent sample answer (written at around CLB 11–12, an estimate, not an official score)

Dear Ms. Carter,

For the past month, mail delivery to my neighborhood has been alarmingly inconsistent, with service limited to a few days per week. Compounding this, misdelivered letters and a delayed bill have led to financial penalties and considerable inconvenience. These disruptions undermine trust in postal services and complicate household management. I urge you to investigate the root cause and implement measures to restore reliable, accurate deliveries. I'm available to discuss this matter further to ensure a swift resolution.

Best regards,

Task 2: Gender Equality in the Workplace Survey

Excellent sample answer (written at around CLB 11–12, an estimate, not an official score)

I firmly believe that implementing transparent policies to guarantee equal pay for equal work (Option A) should be the top priority for companies. Such rules directly address the root of workplace inequality by eliminating unjust wage gaps and promoting objective standards for compensation. While special interest groups and social events (Option B) can foster networking and mutual support, these initiatives do not fundamentally resolve systemic inequities. By enshrining equal pay in company policy, organizations demonstrate true commitment to gender equality and build trust among employees. In the long run, this approach not only improves morale but also enhances overall productivity and organizational reputation.
