Task 1: Request for Personal Time Off

Excellent sample answer (written at around CLB 11–12, an estimate, not an official score)

Dear Mr. Thompson,

I'm writing to respectfully request personal leave from April 28 to April 30 to address a significant family commitment. Your approval would mean a great deal during this time.

To support my family through a milestone event, I need these three days away. To ensure continuity, I'll finalize all outstanding tasks, including client correspondence and weekly reports, by April 27. I've coordinated with Tom, who has kindly agreed to oversee my inbox and field urgent queries, and I'll provide him with a detailed handover to guarantee seamless coverage. I'll remain reachable for emergencies and will return on May 1, fully equipped to dive back into my role without delay.

I'd be grateful for your confirmation and any guidance on formalities. Thank you for your empathy and for fostering a supportive workplace—I'm committed to maintaining our team's momentum.

Sincerely,

Mia Wong

Task 2: Plastic Waste Reduction Survey

Excellent sample answer (written at around CLB 11–12, an estimate, not an official score)

Implementing a ban on single-use plastic bags in all stores (Option A) would deliver the most immediate and measurable reduction in plastic waste. Although art and recycling competitions (Option B) promote creativity and raise environmental awareness, their impact tends to be limited to participants. Policy-driven approaches, like a ban, compel broad behavioral change, ensuring sustainable outcomes. Ultimately, option A directly tackles the core issue and fosters a more eco-conscious community.
